Tomorrow, we stand together.

One job should be enough to feed your family, pay your bills, access quality health care and live comfortably. But corporate millionaires think they can continue to exploit workers through unfair wages and contracts that force them to work multiple jobs and still struggle to make ends meet. Hotel workers in UNITE HERE Local 26 have had enough! Over 1,500 workers are on strike at seven Marriott hotels in Boston, showing their power and demanding dignified treatment.

We know that our movement is strongest when we stand together and show that any worker's fight is every worker's fight. Join us in solidarity tomorrow at 5pm at the Westin Boston Waterfront Hotel to stand on the picket line with Local 26.
